If you have already felt benefits from using someone else's ear-clip device, we do not recommend paying for either of the options above.

Instead, we suggest saving that money and putting it towards a new device. From our decades of clinical experience we have observed that anyone who feels a benefit from using the ear-clips even one time, will continue to feel the benefits, and actually will feel even more benefits with continued use.

Research has shown that microcurrent healing benefits from ongoing use are cumulative and long-lasting. The more you use it, the greater the benefits.
